FRANCE AGREES TO SETTLE WAR DEBT

SPEED MARKS LAST DEAL PRESIDENT APPROVES PACT

Only $295,000,000 Now Is Left To Collect From Europeans For World War Loans—Customary Sixty-Two Years Is Granted France By the Debt Commission—Safety Clause, Heretofore Demanded, Is Omitted—Interest Charge Is One and Five-Eighths Per Cent.

France Thursday funded its $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States by agreeing to pay $6,847,674,104 during the 62 years in annual payments ranging from $30,000,000 to $125,000,000.

President Coolidge gave his approval to the agreement before the formal document was signed by Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, chairman of the American debt commission, and Henri Berenger, ambassador of France.

Annulments during the five year period of part moratorium average $32,000,000. The agreement does not contain a so-called safeguard clause upon which up to that time France has insisted.

The $407,000,000 owed to the United States by France for excess supplies purchased after the armistice is included in the total settlement.

The agreement came after less than a week of formal negotiations between M. Berenger and the American commissioners, but the groundwork all had been laid in an extended series of conferences between Mr. Mellon and the French ambassador.

This leaves only $295,000,000 of unfunded war debt to be collected from European nations.

France receives a moratorium on all interest payments during the first five years, with interest charges averaging 1 3-8 per cent during the sixty-two year period.

In substance, the understanding represents a fifty-fifty compromise between M. Berenger's original offer of approximately $6,000,000,000 and the commission's initial demand for $7,500,000,000.

The United States recorded the following gains in addition to the final offer made last fall by Joseph Caillaux just prior to the collapse of the negotiations at that time:

First, the reduction in the period of payment from 68 years as offered by M. Vaillaux to 62 years, in accordance with the terms of the other debt settlements.

Second, the increase in the aggregate payments from $6,220,000,000 to approximately $6,848,000,000, of $600,000,000 more than the best Caillaux offer.

Third, the complete elimination of the safeguard clause insisted upon by M. Caillaux.

The third point, it was emphasized officially at the treasury, was gained despite the determination of France to include a proviso which would permit the reopening of the debt question.

Official emphasis also was laid on the statement that there is no collateral agreement, secret or otherwise, in any way affecting the formal settlement reached.

France gained a reduction of approximately $650,000,000 in the aggregate payments. The total annuities during the five year period of partial moratorium were reduced $40,000,000 from $200,000,000, the final Caillaux offer, to $160,000,000.

Against this reduction of $40,000,000 the United States prevailed upon France to begin payments at $30,000,000 instead of at $25,000,000 as offered by M. Berenger following collapse of the franc, and to increase them to a maximum of $35,000,000, at the fifth year.

The negotiations today came to a sudden climax following a suspension of negotiations for 72 hours while M. Berenger communicated with Premier Aristide Briand and Finance Minister Peret in Paris.

Until noon Secretary Mellon had no word from M. Berenger, and the general expectation was that the negotiations would go over for another day.

A few minutes later the ambassador notified Mr. Mellon of the receipt of his instructions and a meeting of the American commission was called hurriedly for 2:30 o'clock to consider the French reply.

The commission met, with Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover both absent, although each had been informed as to the contents of the French reply. The absence of the two cabinet members was interpreted as indicating that France's answer was satisfactory and that the agreement would be signed.

After a session of one hour, the commission adjourned to the White House for a conference with President Coolidge. The chief executive was lying down and the commissioners waited 20 minutes in the cabinet room before he appeared.

The conference with the president continued for 40 minutes. Then came the break-up. Mr. Mellon hurried to the treasury to sign the formal agreement, while Senator Reed Smoot, Utah, who will lead the fight for ratification in congress, announced that an agreement had been reached, and gave a brief summary of its character. "It was the best we could get," was his description.

At the treasury, while cameras clicked, Mr. Mellon and M. Berenger signed their names to the formal document. Then the debt commission issued a formal statement reviewing the negotiations and detailing the terms.

PORK PACKING PLANT BOUGHT BY REA BALES

Business Established Ninety Years Ago—Groce Hams Nationally Famous.

The John Groce & Son Packing company plant with trade name and formulas of curing and preserving meats, has been sold by Charles E. Groce to Rea R. Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bales.

It is Mr. Bales' intention to install a refrigerating plant and overhaul the entire plant at the foot of West High street this summer. He will have the plant in readiness to start up this fall and it is his intention to pack and preserve meats the year around.

It is not such a far cry from hay to hams for one produces the other, with a little corn thrown in as a dessert to make the hams solid. The popularity of the Groce sugar cured ham is country wide; it has a national reputation and can be found on the Ritz-Carlton menu in New York City, the St. Charles hotel, New Orleans, Louisiana, and in hostleries from ocean to ocean.

Nearly ninety years ago, in 1837, Olds & McCoy, started a pork packing business on the north side of West High street, just across the canal and the business was later disposed of to Atwater & Groce in 1948. Following the death of Mr. Atwater in 1852, John Groce became the sole proprietor and in 1870, following a heavy rise of waters in Hargus creek and the Scioto river, the supports of the old wooden building were undermined and it collapsed and the building fell. Just about this time, Colonel C. E. Groce, who was associated with his father, began to take an active part in the business and a brick building took its place and the firm name was changed to John Groce & Son. In 1887 a summer packing house was added and the business was conducted up to 1896. Since then it has not been conducted on such a large scale.

Colonel Groce, who succeeded his father as owner, found it more profitable to buy green hams at the large packing plants in Chicago and cure and smoke them here. This he has continued up to the present time. Colonel Groce is topping the three quarters of a century mark and he thought it high time to give the reins to a younger man.

The new owner is a hustler and when he gets things in shape, this city will again take its place on the breakfast table thruout the land with Groce hams.

Twenty-one certificates for assistant pharmacist were allowed out of 22 applicants. The highest grades were made by Paul R. Hudson, of Cleveland, for pharmacist and by Abraham Bieber, of Cleveland, for an assistant's license.

A RELIC OF THE BATTLE OF LAKE ERIE

Sandusky, April 28.—(UP.)—The recent storm that swept over Lake Erie washed an Indian canoe estimated to be more than one hundred years old, on the beach at Pelee Island, Ontario, 30 miles north of here, Captain John Denzer of the fishing boat Grandon said here today.

The canoe had been hewn out of a solid log and was more than fifty feet long, Captain Denzer said. He added that it was believed the canoe may have been used in the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812.

Fabrics for New Frocks and Coats

Polka Dot for Spring and Summer; Figured Lame Is Popular.

Though last year saw the introduction of the polka dot early and then saw it almost run into the ground later, the dot this year has been one of the important designs in the new spring materials. But there is the subtle difference in this year's material and last that only the style creators know how to make in order to keep a style going, says a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star. The dot sometimes looks like an eyelet; again it is not always of one size. Many dots are sometimes set in a triangle or a square. One triangle or square will be dark with a light dot, the other may be light with a dark dot. It may have a zigzag design with a dotted base. Many of the dotted materials have zigzag or futuristic designs of large size in a deep border. Some of the dotted materials have the dots overlapping each other.

The dotted materials this year are made up to suit any figure. The newest methods are very kind to a full figure, with the occasional wing jabot and draped front. Some of them have pointed tunics, too, that elongate a heavy figure. The smaller dot through the body and the larger bordered figures at the bottom of the frock, with something to bring a line from the shoulder over the wide borders to the foot of the gown, is a method some dressmakers use to make the rotund type less rotund. Plain materials can always be used with dotted or figures so that lines may be broken and spaces narrowed.

It is probably more necessary to watch the choice of materials even than to watch the style of making them up, those who have "type fashions" in charge would probably say. Women who can wear closely woven fabrics with smooth surface cannot wear rough fringes and eponges.

Those who yearn for printed materials but cannot wear them are sure to console themselves with plain fabrics made up with facings, trimmings, jabots of the printed materials.

A material which no type evidently has been able to resist is the figured lame. These for tunics, jumpers and especially for evening gowns and wraps have been used by nearly all women regardless of figure if they could afford such materials. Evidently no woman is trying to resist their appeal for summer gowns, trimmings and wraps. The metal embroidered chiffons and the lames and lame tissues will, evidently, go right with us through the summer—a thing they have never before tried to do, though when we realize that there is no longer any fur season and that wide bands of fox are used in the hottest climes on all kinds of clothes, we shouldn't wonder about other fashions.

Snug Hips on Spring Suits

The spring suit of 1926 should have a snug hip. The type of the garment is such that the broad, rather loose shoulders should merge into a snug hip line, from beneath which the fairly short skirt begins to flare. Revers are long and the coat fastenings consist of one or two buttons at the most.

Robe de Style in Rose Taffeta

One of the most charming examples of the robe de style is a model made of changeable rose and blue taffeta, with the full skirt shorter in front than in back and lined with deep rose faille. A tiny collar of silver lace outlines the pointed décolletage.

HARTMAN THEATER.

"Why Men Leave Home," the smashing comedy success by Avery Hopwood, that most successful playwright, has been chosen for the week play to be presented by the Hartman Stock company May 3, under the direction of John Hayden. Many metropolitan critics have claimed that this is Mr. Hopwood's best play, and when you take into consideration that he was also responsible for "The Bat" and many other successes, this belief certainly bespeaks much for this latest play, "Why Men Leave Home." It is also claimed that Mr. Hopwood has tapped a virgin theme in the theater. He has hit upon a topic so vital and so universal that every playwright has reason to chide himself that he or she had not thought of it. At the same time Mr. Hopwood has brilliantly evolved a story of beauty and as brimful of good cheer and laughs as any play bearing his name. To divulge the story of the play would be to deprive you of a real thrill for it is most unusual and diverting in plot. That "Why Men Leave Home" sprang into instant favor with the New York theater-going public is not difficult to understand. The newspaper reviewers were more than enthusiastic in their praise of the play.

Jean Ford and Donn Cook will have excellent roles as will Georgia Neese, Martha Lee Manners, John Lott, Neil McFee and other members of the company, including William Ingersoll, Gilberta Faust, Forrest Orr.

The production will be complete in every way, as John Hayden, the director, saw the play produced in New York and has duplicated the sets, electrical effects and properties. Mr. Hayden's excellent direction of "Enchanted April," last week, with its beautiful setting, should be proof enough that Columbus will have the best in the future.

Allen Hale's orchestra plays for dancing in the foyer. They will play your favorite piece if you request it.

Matinee Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays. Out of town reservations will be taken care of.

CHILlicothe GRAND CHORUS IN A RECITALBusiness and Professional Women Will Present Fine Musical Program.

The Business and Professional Women's club of Circleville, will present the Women's chorus and a mixed quartet, of Chillicothe, in a recital at Memorial hall, on May 7.

The Women's chorus is composed of thirty-five of Chillicothe's best singers and three prominent singers of Circleville; Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mrs. James Moffitt and Miss Helen Marion. The chorus is trained and directed by Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, who is acknowledged to be the peer of any teacher or director in central or southern Ohio, not excepting those of Cincinnati or Columbus.

The singing of the Women's chorus is conspicuous for rich, tonal quality and delightful shading, as well as detailed attention to their capable director.

The quartet is composed of Chillicothe's leading soprano, Mrs. Frank Stevenson, Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, contralto, Mr. George Thompson, tenor and Mr. Robert Dunkel, basso. They will sing "In a Persian Garden," that lovely song cycle by Liza Lehmann, the words taken from "The Rubaiyat" by the tentmaker, Omar Khayyam.

To hear "In a Persian Garden" sung by this quartet is to be transported to the dreamy orient on the wings of song.

Mrs. Stevenson's work in this song cycle is masterly, her rich dramatic voice is most thrilling and her artistic rendition captivating.

ROTARY CLUB PRESIDENT IS OSCAR HOWARD

Rev. Toensmier Made Address on Immigration and Andrew Meneely on Bells.

At the noonday luncheon of the Circleville Rotary club at The Boggs Thursday, Rev. E. S. Toensmier, pastor of the First Presbyterian church gave a most entertaining and instructive address on "Immigration" and Andrew Meneely, of Albany, New York, who installed the Foresman chimes in the court house tower, gave a very interesting talk on bells and chimes.

Officers of the club for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, O. S. Howard; vice president, N. G. Spangler; secretary, Clark Will; treasurer, John Ryan; directors, Meeker Terwilliger and George P. Foresman.

Laugh If You Want To

TREASURE TROVES

Why long to delve in far-off hills of gold; To gather up the glittering treasure there, As much as both my willing arms could hold?— Have I not won your wealth of golden hair?

Why trouble me because the miser seas Have swallowed up a million sunken ships To hoard them in their coral treasuries?— I found the carmine coral of your lips!

Why dream that some day, when the wish is strong, I shall be lifted up to tear the skies Asunder, and behold, the angel throng?— This hour I look into your two blue eyes!

Why count the beads of failure o'er and o'er, As if the days of summer that depart Had vanished into winter evermore?— I know a spring perpetual — 'tis your heart!

RESTAURANT POPULAR WITH COLLEGE PUBLIC

Delaware, O., April 30, (UP). — Ohio Wesleyan co-eds often pay the restaurant or soda check, when having dates, and generally eat a great deal more when they are paying for their own than when their Romeos foot the bill. Such is the opinion of waitresses in local restaurants and confectionery shops, according to statistics gathered by the Ohio Wesleyan Transcript, student paper. "College engagements are made and broken, quarrels are thrashed out and more than one fraternity pin has changed hands here," said one waitress in explaining the popularity of local sundae emporiums with the college public.

FRESH SPRING GRASS IS GOOD TONIC FOR COW

Pasture Should be Used Intelligently and With the Grain Foods.

Grass is a good tonic for the cow but she can't make milk on tonic, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. If she is expected to continue to do a day's work every day, she will have to get enough to eat of a good nourishing feed.

"Few dairymen realize that in some respects a dairy cow is a great deal like a human being, states the institute. "No human being would stop eating meat and potatoes, simply because he was eating lettuce and spinach to tone up his system, yet many dairymen believe that their cows do not need grain simply because they have grass to graze on.

"Fresh spring grass is a good tonic for the cow. It is green, juicy, and palatable. Cows like it. It tones them up and for a time will actually stimulate milk production." But grass at its best is half water and a cow has to eat an enormous amount of pasture daily to get the feed she needs. Grass, therefore, should be used more as a tonic than as a feed. All dairymen should use pasture but they should use it intelligently and should use it with grain. The practice of turning out herds on pasture as soon as the grass comes up thick and green is always a costly move, both in damage to pasture and to an even greater extent in the falling off in production on the part of cows relying on grass alone for their nourishment.

Actual tests by E. A. Hanson, in charge of cow test association work in Minnesota, of the effects of pasture feeding as compared to the use of grain, especially thruout the spring and early summer, showed that 1231 cows receiving no grain on pasture averaged 288 pounds of butterfat per year at a feed cost of $41.87. In contrast to this, 572 cows receiving grain while on pasture averaged 296 pounds of butterfat per year, at a total feed cost of $49.35. That extra $7.48 spent for feed during the pasture season resulted in an additional 68 pounds of butterfat from each cow, which, on the basis of 40 cents a pound, was worth $27.20, or a net profit of $19.72 above the added cost of feed.

AMUSEMENTS

"Mike" a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by Marshall Neilan, which will be shown at the Met theater on Wednesday for three days, is described as one of the best and most amusing pictures that director has yet turned out in a long career of notable successes. This seems reasonable to assume as the story itself is Neilan's own.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given this talented director another outstanding cast. Sally O'Neill, a wonderful newcomer; Charlie Murray, beauty and an individuality that will not soon be surpassed.

The entire story covers a period of only two days in the lives of an old section hand, his three young children, his eldest daughter, Mike, her sweetheart and the inhabitants of the little desert town in which they live. With these characters, Neilan has made a picture that for sheer humor and for thrills challenges any ever produced. In fact, when the audience is not doubled up with laughter, it is gripping its individual theater chairs with suspense.

Neilan introduces a new find as Mike in the person of the piquant Sally O'Neill. She exhibits a rare beauty and an individuality that will doubtless carry her far. William Haines plays opposite her as "Harian" in his usual capable manne.

Other members of the cast that deserve special mention are Ned Sparks, Muriel Frances Dana, Frankie Darro, Junior Cogan, Wilfred Lucas and San DeGrasse.

Differences in Flour

The difference between whole wheat flour and graham flour is that there is less coarse bran in the so-called whole wheat flour than in the graham. Alexander Graham was the first to advocate milling the entire wheat, adding nothing to it and subtracting nothing from it. In some mills the whole wheat flour is a product of the whole wheat put through a process to take out the coarsest bran.

Before coming to Dayton Mr. Rudy married Matilda Caroline Walker, of Logan, at Circleville, Ohio. On March 24 Mr. and Mrs. Rudy celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary at their home.

He is survived by the widow, Matilda; four daughters, Miss Eleanor Rudy, a missionary at Wuchow, South China; Mrs. W. M. Turnbull, of Nyack, N. Y.; Miss Ida Odelle Rudy, primary supervisor of the Dayton public schools, and Miss Stella M. Rudy, a missionary to China, who is home on a furlough; a son, Harry Rudy, of the Winters National Bank and Trust company, of Dayton; a grandson, Virgin Rinehart, of Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Ramer Glick, of Circleville, Ohio.—Dayton Herald.

GOVERNOR VIC

Is In Favor of State Holding Canal Property.

Columbus, April 28.—(UP.)—Believing the time will come when Ohio's system of canals will be needed again for purposes of transportation, Governor Donahy is desirous that the State retain its title, at all times, to this property, it was announced today at the governor's office.

The governor, it was stated, is of the opinion that all leases, entered into by the State, effecting any canal property shall contain a clause stipulating that the lease is to be void in the event the State decides to use the canal for transportation purposes.

In the making of leases, the governor voiced belief that preference should be given municipalities along a canal over private business concerns desiring to use canal property for water power, or other purposes. He pointed out that if a municipality wished to use a portion of the canal within its city limits for park, or other purposes in connection with a "beautification" plan, the lease should be granted the municipality, rather than to a business concern.

How to Get One

To one of the chapters of a widely known national college sorority came a sister from a "hick" school but with splendid recommendations. After only a perfunctory examination the member was invited to become affiliated, but with, oh, how many regrets later. Her taste regarding men was striking, for she was immediately and repeatedly seen in company with the campus joke, a veritable Ichabod Crane. And to the ill-disguised comments of her sisters she was invulnerable.

"You could have gotten him, too," she told them, "if you had just coquetted him like I did."—Indianapolis News.

SPRINGTIME TO CLEAN HOUSE.

How much better we feel when house cleaning is over, rugs cleaned, windows washed, etc. It adds life to everything. Just so grinding the valves and cleaning the carbon in your Ford car adds life and pep to its motor. Cleans out the dirt accumulated during the winter months—and what a difference it makes. Our service department can do this for you at a small cost.

DRY DETECTIVE INSTANTLY KILLED

While Searching House of Suspect In Jefferson County.

Steubenville, April 28.—John C. McCoy, 52, one of Jefferson County's best known prohibition enforcement officers, long marked man among liquor law violators, was shot and killed today during a raid on the home of Frank Risler, 37, at Toronto, north of here.

Arrested by Toronto police, Risler is alleged to have declared: "I made up my mind never to let a dry agent search my home."

Risler was brought to the county jail here, where he is held without bail on a charge of murder.

McCoy, accompanied by two assistants, entered the Risler home with a search warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Rutledge, out of whose court he was working. Having completed a search of the cellar, he was confronted by Risler, who had just returned home from work.

Risler is alleged to have fired one shot, which entered McCoy's left breast. McCoy was dead when taken to a hospital. His companions are said to have retired when Risler drew his revolver.

Risler offered no resistance when Toronto police arrived to arrest him. The authorities declare he admitted firing in defense of his home, which he considered violated.

Operating out of probate courts in this county for the last five years, McCoy was shot five times in raids and from ambush, and twice was stabbed by liquor law violators. In addition his home had been blown up three times, but on each occasion his family escaped.

Justice Rutledge claims that after the shooting a deputy marshal found a pint of whisky, a pint of wine and several bottles of beer in the Risler home.

New Style Passports Are Vest-Pocket Sized

Washington.—The State department has decided to stop issuing the old style engraved passports and within the next month or so will publish a neatly printed substitute of vest pocket dimensions.

Underlying the change of style are two chief factors, safety and economy. Departmental officers expect the new form to give the government absolute protection from counterfeit products, a source of constant worry. Then, too, they say, the government will save much of the expense that went with the production of the engraved parchment, and by using less expensive paper.

Jessie's Joy Ride

Freddie and Jessie had been playing one of those old-fashioned games with forfeits, and the girl had been ordered to give the young man ten kisses.

"Let's see," said Jessie, pausing for breath, "that's seven, isn't it?"

"Only six," corrected Freddie.

"Seven, I think."

"No, six."

"Seven!"

"Six!"

"Look here," said the girl, wearily, "sooner than have any argument, we had better start all over again."

Commands High Prices for Artistic Candles

For the specialist it seems that candle making is by no means an unprofitable business in the United States today. In New York society many hostesses are willing to pay a good price for candles that lend an artistic effect to table decorations—rose-colored candles, for instance, to form part of a centerpiece with a box of roses. There is an Italian cand-lemaker, carrying on the craft of his forefathers in a studio on the upper East side, who so far individualizes his candles as to give them names.
One called Eleanor Duse is decorated by hand with a delicate lily design and perfumed with the late actress' favorite orange blossom. At the time of the prince of Wales' last visit he made prince of Wales candles by the dozen. They were of "pale pink with the fragrance of an old English garden." Evidently this artist takes his profession very seriously. Once he had an order to make candles for a banquet to be given to a dancer. He watched her dance, so that he might catch her spirit in his dried design, and then he scented the candles with her favorite perfume. The same man is sometimes called upon to make reproductions of candles centuries old for use in cinema films.—Manchester Guardian.

WAR TROPHY AND CHIMES DEDICATION

Crowd Attends Ceremonies

---Talks by Barton Walters
and M. C. Seyfert.

The dedication of the Foresman Memorial Chimes and the unveiling of the World war trophy Thursday evening at the court house, aroused a great deal of interest and an unusually large number of people filled the court room, where the ceremonies were held. Long before the appointed hour the place was filled to overflowing and the rotunda on the second floor was jammed with people eager to gain entrance, but were unable to do so.

S. T. Ruggles, one of the executors of the William Foresman estate, presided at the meeting and a beautiful souvenir program befitting the occasion was distributed to the audience.

Following the singing of "America"
by Mrs. A. W. Holman, Miss Helen Marion, E. S. Roper and Fred Wittich an address was given by Barton Walters, one of the executors of the William Foresman estate.

He was followed by M. C. Seyfert Jr., who represented the military organizations taking part in the dedication of the chimes in memory of the fallen heroes of the World war and also in the unveiling of the World war trophy, the Minnieverfer mortar that stands on the east esplanade of the court house.

Following the singing of "Remember Now, Thy Creator," by the quartet, accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke at the piano. The chimes program was played by Andrew E.
Meneely, of Watervliet, New York, the maker of the chimes. Taps was sounded on the chimes as a fitting finale of the evening's program.

Among the military organizations present were four of the remaining members of Groce Post, G. A. R., who were physically able to attend. When Mr. Seyfert began his address he asked the audience to stand up and salute the timeworn veterans of the Civil war, and they were given a rousing salute. Proudly did Commander Hudson of the post hold the post flag, Old Glory, aloft. This flag was presented to the post when it was organized in 1881, and was carried at the dedication of the soldiers' monument in Forest cemetery. At that time soldiers from all wars from 1812 up to that date participated. Samuel Lutz, the centenarian, who participated in the war of 1812, was present.
The veterans present Thursday evening were Commander W. H. Hudson; Captain O. H. Spencer; George W.
Trimmer and Charles W. Myers. The other members of the post who were unable to attend on account of their physical condition are James Graham
Fred Margraff, Lewis Thomas, James Morris and George Moore. The last named is paralyzed and is battling against odds for his life at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. G. Spangle, on West High street.

Only nine members of the post are living of the original 300, which formed the organization back in 1881.

Mr. Walters said that twelve years ago William Foresman, the donor of the chimes, thought of presenting them to this city in honor of this county's fallen heroes of all wars. He was then in correspondence with manufacturers and it was his aim to purchase and install them while living, but this pleasure was denied him.

Mr. Seyfert gave a description of the American flag and touched on the contrast of peace and war times, and paid a very pretty and deserving compliment to the boys of former and recent wars, who took up arms for their country. Do we owe them anything?
Remember these boys who lie sleeping over yonder, who made the supreme sacrifice, and those who returned. This country can never repay the debt we owe them, their service was an everlasting debt that will not be liquidated in your time or mine.

The miniewerfer mortar gun that was unveiled was used in the German army to throw missiles of death into the ranks of their enemies.

FRANCE AGREES TO SETTLE WAR DEBT

SPEED MARKS LAST DEAL PRESIDENT APPROVES PACT

Only $295,000,000 Now Is Left To Collect From Europeans For World War Loans—Customary Sixty-Two Years Is Granted France By the Debt Commission—Safety Clause, Heretofore Demanded, Is Omitted—Interest Charge Is One and Five-Eighths Per Cent.

France Thursday funded its $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States by agreeing to pay $6,847,674,104 during the 62 years in annual payments ranging from $30,000,000 to $125,000,000.

President Coolidge gave his approval to the agreement before the formal document was signed by Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, chairman of the American debt commission, and Henri Berenger, ambassador of France.

Annulments during the five year period of part moratorium average $32,000,000. The agreement does not contain a so-called safeguard clause upon which up to that time France has insisted.

The $407,000,000 owed to the United States by France for excess supplies purchased after the armistice is included in the total settlement.

The agreement came after less than a week of formal negotiations between M. Berenger and the American commissioners, but the groundwork all had been laid in an extended series of conferences between Mr. Mellon and the French ambassador.

This leaves only $295,000,000 of unfunded war debt to be collected from European nations.

France receives a moratorium on all interest payments during the first five years, with interest charges averaging 1 3/8 per cent during the sixty-two year period.

In substance, the understanding represents a fifty-fifty compromise between M. Berenger's original offer of approximately $6,000,000,000 and the commission's initial demand for $7,500,000,000.

The United States recorded the following gains in addition to the final offer made last fall by Joseph Caillaux just prior to the collapse of the negotiations at that time:

First, the reduction in the period of payment from 68 years as offered by M. Vaillaux to 62 years, in accordance with the terms of the other debt settlements.

Second, the increase in the aggregate payments from $6,220,000,000 to approximately $6,848,000,000, of $600,000,000 more than the best Caillaux offer.

Third, the complete elimination of the safeguard clause insisted upon by M. Caillaux.

The third point, it was emphasized officially at the treasury, was gained despite the determination of France to include a proviso which would permit the reopening of the debt question.

Official emphasis also was laid on the statement that there is no collateral agreement, secret or otherwise, in any way affecting the formal settlement reached.

France gained a reduction of approximately $650,000,000 in the aggregate payments. The total annuities during the five year period of partial moratorium were reduced $40,000,000 from $200,000,000, the final Caillaux offer, to $160,000,000.

Against this reduction of $40,000,000 the United States prevailed upon France to begin payments at $30,000,000 instead of at $25,000,000 as offered by M. Berenger following collapse of the franc, and to increase

them to a maximum of $35,000,000, at the fifth year.

The negotiations today came to a sudden climax following a suspension of negotiations for 72 hours while M. Berenger communicated with Premier Aristide Briand and Finance Minister Peret in Paris.

Until noon Secretary Mellon had no word from M. Berenger, and the general expectation was that the negotiations would go over for another day.

A few minutes later the ambassador notified Mr. Mellon of the receipt of his instructions and a meeting of the American commission was called hurriedly for 2:30 o'clock to consider the French reply.

The commission met, with Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover both absent, although each had been informed as to the contents of the French reply. The absence of the two cabinet members was interpreted as indicating that France's answer was satisfactory and that the agreement would be signed.

After a session of one hour, the commission adjourned to the White House for a conference with President Coolidge. The chief executive was lying down and the commissioners waited 20 minutes in the cabinet room before he appeared.

The conference with the president continued for 40 minutes. Then came the break-up. Mr. Mellon hurried to the treasury to sign the formal agreement, while Senator Reed Smoot, Utah, who will lead the fight for ratification in congress, announced that an agreement had been reached, and gave a brief summary of its character.

"It was the best we could get," was his description.

At the treasury, while cameras clicked, Mr. Mellon and M. Berenger signed their names to the formal document. Then the debt commission issued a formal statement reviewing the negotiations and detailing the terms.

PORK PACKING PLANT BOUGHT BY REA BALES

Business Established Ninety
Years Ago—Groce Hams
Nationally Famous.

The John Groce & Son Packing company plant with trade name and formulas of curing and preserving meats, has been sold by Charles E. Groce to Rea R. Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bales.

It is Mr. Bales' intention to install a refrigerating plant and overhaul the entire plant at the foot of West High street this summer. He will have the plant in readiness to start up this fall and it is his intention to pack and preserve meats the year around.

It is not such a far cry from hay to hams for one produces the other, with a little corn thrown in as a dessert to make the hams solid. The popularity of the Groce sugar cured ham is country wide; it has a national reputation and can be found on the Ritz-Carlton menu in New York City, streets, while trying to beat an auto the St. Charles hotel, New Orleans, across the street driven by Robert Walters. The boy ran directly in front of the machine and fell. The car passed over him, but fortunately the wheels cleared his body. A gash was cut in his forehead over his right eye and a deep cut was made in the calf of his right leg. He was taken to Dr. Atwater & Groce in 1918. Following the death of Mr. Atwater in 1852, wounds were given surgical treatment.

Nearly ninety years ago, in 1837, Olds & McCoy, started a pork packing business on the north side of West High street, just across the canal and the business was later disposed of to John Groce & Son in 1848. Following the death of Mr. Atwater in 1852, John Groce became the sole proprietor and in 1870, following a heavy rise of waters in Hargus creek and the Scioto river, the supports of the old wooden building were undermined and it collapsed and the building fell. Just about this time, Colonel C. E. Groce, who was associated with his father, began to take an active part in the business and a brick building took its place and the firm name was changed to John Groce & Son. In 1887 a summer packing house was added and the business was conducted up to 1895. Since then it has not been conducted on such a large scale.

Colonel Groce, who succeeded his father as owner, found it more profitable to buy green hams at the large packing plants in Chicago and cure and smoke them here. This he has continued up to the present time. Colonel Groce is topping the three quarters of a century mark and he thought it high time to give the reins to a younger man.

The new owner is a hustler and when he gets things in shape, this city will again take its place on the breakfast table thruout the land with Groce hams.

A RELIC OF THE BATTLE OF LAKE ERIE

Sandusky, April 28.—(UP.)—The recent storm that swept over Lake Erie washed an Indian canoe estimated to be more than one hundred years old, on the beach at Pelee Island, Ontario, 30 miles north of here, Captain John Denzer of the fishing boat Grandon said here today.

The canoe had been hewn out of a solid log and was more than fifty feet long, Captain Denzer said. He added that it was believed the canoe may have been used in the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812.

Fabrics for New Frocks and Coats

Polka Dot for Spring and Summer; Figured Lame Is Popular.

Though last year saw the introduction of the polka dot early and then saw it almost run into the ground later, the dot this year has been one of the important designs in the new spring materials. But there is the subtle difference in this year's material and last that only the style creators know how to make in order to keep a style going, says a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star. The dot sometimes looks like an eyelet; again it is not always of one size. Many dots are sometimes set in a triangle or a square. One triangle or square will be dark with a light dot, the other may be light with a dark dot. It may have a zigzag design with a dotted base. Many of the dotted materials have zigzag or futuristic designs of large size in a deep border. Some of the dotted materials have the dots overlapping each other.

The dotted materials this year are made up to suit any figure. The newest methods are very kind to a full figure, with the occasional wing jabot and draped front. Some of them have pointed tunics, too, that elongate a heavy figure. The smaller dot through the body and the larger bordered figures at the bottom of the frock, with something to bring a line from the shoulder over the wide borders to the foot of the gown, is a method some dressmakers use to make the rotund type less rotund. Plain materials can always be used with dotted or figures so that lines may be broken and spaces narrowed.

It is probably more necessary to watch the choice of materials even than to watch the style of making them up, those who have "type fashions" in charge would probably say. Women who can wear closely woven fabrics with smooth surface cannot wear rough fringes and eponges.

Those who yearn for printed materials but cannot wear them are sure to console themselves with plain fabrics made up with facings, trimmings, jabots of the printed materials.

A material which no type evidently has been able to resist is the figured lame. These for tunics, jumpers and especially for evening gowns and wraps have been used by nearly all women regardless of figure if they could afford such materials. Evidently no woman is trying to resist their appeal for summer gowns, trimmings and wraps. The metal embroidered chiffons and the lames and lame tissues will, evidently, go right with us through the summer—a thing they have never before tried to do, though when we realize that there is no longer any fur season and that wide bands of fox are used in the hottest climes on all kinds of clothes, we shouldn't wonder about other fashions.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

"Why Men Leave Home," the smashing comedy success by Avery Hopwood, that most successful playwright, has been chosen for the week play to be presented by the Hartman Stock company May 3, under the direction of John Hayden. Many metropolitan critics have claimed that this is Mr. Hopwood's best play, and when you take into consideration that he was also responsible for "The Bat" and many other successes, this belief certainly bespeaks much for this latest play, "Why Men Leave Home."

It is also claimed that Mr. Hopwood has tapped a virgin theme in the theater. He has hit upon a topic so vital and so universal that every playwright has reason to chide himself that he or she had not thought of it. At the same time Mr. Hopwood has brilliantly evolved a story of beauty and as brimful of good cheer and laughs as any play bearing his name.

To divulge the story of the play would be to deprive you of a real thrill for it is most unusual and diverting in plot. That "Why Men Leave Home" sprang into instant favor with the New York theater-going public is not difficult to understand. The newspaper reviewers were more than enthusiastic in their praise of the play.

Jean Ford and Donn Cook will have excellent roles as will Georgia Neese, Martha Lee Manners, John Lott, Neil McFee and other members of the company, including William Ingersoll, Gilberta Faust, Forrest Orr.

The production will be complete in every way, as John Hayden, the director, saw the play produced in New York and has duplicated the sets, electrical effects and properties. Mr. Hayden's excellent direction of "Enchanted April," last week, with its beautiful setting, should be proof enough that Columbus will have the best in the future.

Allen Hale's orchestra plays for dancing in the foyer. They will play your favorite piece if you request it.

Matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays. Out of town reservations will be taken care of.

CHILlicothe GRAND CHORUS IN A RECITALBusiness and Professional Women Will Present Fine Musical Program.

The Business and Professional Women's club of Circleville, will present the Women's chorus and a mixed quartet, of Chillicothe, in a recital at Memorial hall, on May 7.

The Women's chorus is composed of thirty-five of Chillicothe's best singers and three prominent singers of Circleville; Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mrs. James Moffitt and Miss Helen Marion. The chorus is trained and directed by Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, who is acknowledged to be the peer of any teacher or director in central or southern Ohio, not excepting those of Cincinnati or Columbus.

The singing of the Women's chorus is conspicuous for rich, tonal quality and delightful shading, as well as detailed attention to their capable director.

The quartet is composed of Chillicothe's leading soprano, Mrs. Frank Stevenson, Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, contralto, Mr. George Thompson, tenor and Mr. Robert Dunkel, basso. They will sing "In a Persian Garden," that lovely song cycle by Liza Lehmann, the words taken from "The Rubaiyat" by the tentmaker, Omar Khayyam.

To hear "In a Persian Garden" sung by this quartet is to be transported to the dreamy orient on the wings of song.

Mrs. Stevenson's work in this song cycle is masterly, her rich dramatic voice is most thrilling and her artistic rendition captivating.

Officers of the club for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, O. S. Howard; vice president, N. G. Spangler; secretary, Clark Will; treasurer, John Ryan; directors, Meeker Terwilliger and George P. Foresman.

Why dream that some day, when the wish is strong, I shall be lifted up to tear the skies Asunder, and behold, the angel throng?—This hour I look into your two blue eyes!

Why count the beads of failure o'er and o'er, As if the days of summer that depart Had vanished into winter evermore?—I know a spring perpetual—'tis your heart!

RESTAURANT POPULAR WITH COLLEGE PUBLIC

Delaware, O., April 30, (UP).—Ohio Wesleyan co-eds often pay the restaurant or soda check, when having dates, and generally eat a great deal more when they are paying for their own than when their Romeos foot the bill. Such is the opinion of waitresses in local restaurants and confectionery shops, according to statistics gathered by the Ohio Wesleyan Transcript, student paper.

"College engagements are made and broken, quarrels are thrashed out and more than one fraternity pin has changed hands here," said one waitress in explaining the popularity of local sundae emporiums with the college public.

FRESH SPRING GRASS IS GOOD TONIC FOR COWPasture Should be Used Intelligently and With the Grain Foods.

Grass is a good tonic for the cow but she can't make milk on tonic, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. If she is expected to continue to do a day's work every day, she will have to get enough to eat of a good nourishing feed.

"Few dairymen realize that in some respects a dairy cow is a great deal like a human being, states the institute. "No human being would stop eating meat and potatoes, simply because he was eating lettuce and spinach to tone up his system, yet many dairymen believe that their cows do not need grain simply because they have grass to graze on."

Actual tests by E. A. Hanson, in charge of cow test association work in Minnesota, of the effects of pasture feeding as compared to the use of grain, especially thruout the spring and early summer, showed that 1231 cows receiving no grain on pasture averaged 288 pounds of butterfat per year at a feed cost of $41.87. In contrast to this, 572 cows receiving grain while on pasture averaged 296 pounds of butterfat per year, at a total feed cost of $49.35. That extra $7.48 spent for feed during the pasture season resulted in an additional 68 pounds of butterfat from each cow, which, on the basis of 40 cents a pound, was worth $27.20, or a net profit of $19.72 above the added cost of feed.

"Mike" a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by Marshall Neilan, which will be shown at the Met theater on Wednesday for three days, is described as one of the best and most amusing pictures that director has yet turned out in a long career of notable successes. This seems reasonable to assume as the story itself is Neilan's own.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given this talented director another outstanding cast. Sally O'Neill, a wonderful newcomer; Charlie Murray, beauty and an individuality that will not soon be surpassed.

The entire story covers a period of only two days in the lives of an old section hand, his three young children, his eldest daughter, Mike, her sweetheart and the inhabitants of the little desert town in which they live. With these characters, Neilan has made a picture that for sheer humor and for thrills challenges any ever produced. In fact, when the audience is not doubled up with laughter, it is gripping its individual theater chairs with suspense.

Neilan introduces a new find as Mike in the person of the piquant Sally O'Neill. She exhibits a rare beauty and an individuality that will doubtless carry her far. William Haines plays opposite her as "Harlan" in his usual capable manne.

Other members of the cast that deserve special mention are Ned Sparks, Muriel Frances Dana, Frankie Darro, Junior Cogan, Wilfred Lucas and San DeGrasse.

Differences in Flour

The difference between whole wheat flour and graham flour is that there is less coarse bran in the so-called whole wheat flour than in the graham. Alexander Graham was the first to advocate milling the entire wheat, adding nothing to it and subtracting nothing from it. In some mills the whole wheat flour is a product of the whole wheat put through a process to take out the coarsest bran.

P. C. RUDY DIES
AFTER ILLNESS OF FOUR YEARS

Funeral services for Philip Charles Rudy, 77 years old, who died at 8:10 o'clock Thursday evening at his residence, 517 Adams street, following an illness of four years, were held at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the residence, and burial was made in Woodland cemetery.

He had been in the employ of the F. W. Requarth Lumber company for the last twenty-seven years as a designer. He had been engaged in the lumber business practically all his life. He came to Dayton from Canal Dover, where he was born, and entered the employ of the Kuntz Johnson Lumber company, and later became a partner in the firm of Harry C. Wight & Co.

For 32 years Mr. Rudy was Sunday school superintendent of the Otterbein United Brethren church and a leader in religious affairs of that church for a number of years.

Before coming to Dayton Mr. Rudy married Matilda Caroline Walker, of Logan, at Circleville, Ohio. On March 24 Mr. and Mrs. Rudy celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary at their home.

He is survived by the widow, Matilda; four daughters, Miss Eleanor Rudy, a missionary at Wuchow, South China; Mrs. W. M. Turnbull, of Nyack, N. Y.; Miss Ida Odelle Rudy, primary supervisor of the Dayton public schools, and Miss Stella M. Rudy, a missionary to China, who is home on a furlough; a son, Harry Rudy, of the Winters National Bank and Trust company, of Dayton; a grandson, Virgin Rinehart, of Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Ramer Glick, of Circleville, Ohio.—Dayton Herald.

GOVERNOR VIC

Is In Favor of State Holding Canal Property.

Columbus, April 28.—(UP.)—Believing the time will come when Ohio's system of canals will be needed again for purposes of transportation, Governor Donahy is desirous that the State retain its title, at all times, to this property, it was announced today at the governor's office.

The governor, it was stated, is of the opinion that all leases, entered into by the State, effecting any canal property shall contain a clause stipulating that the lease is to be void in the event the State decides to use the canal for transportation purposes.

In the making of leases, the governor voiced belief that preference should be given municipalities along a canal over private business concerns desiring to use canal property for water power, or other purposes. He pointed out that if a municipality wished to use a portion of the canal within its city limits for park, or other purposes in connection with a "beautification" plan, the lease should be granted the municipality, rather than to a business concern.

How to Get One

To one of the chapters of a widely known national college sorority came a sister from a "hick" school but with splendid recommendations. After only a perfunctory examination the member was invited to become affiliated, but with, oh, how many regrets later. Her taste regarding men was striking, for she was immediately and repeatedly seen in company with the campus joke, a veritable Ichabod Crane. And to the ill-disguised comments of her sisters she was invulnerable.

"You could have gotten him, too," she told them, "if you had just coquetted him like I did."—Indianapolis News.

DRY DETECTIVE INSTANTLY KILLED

While Searching House of Suspect In Jefferson County.

Steubenville, April 28.—John C. McCoy, 52, one of Jefferson County's best known prohibition enforcement officers, long marked man among liquor law violators, was shot and killed today during a raid on the home of Frank Risler, 37, at Toronto, north of here.

Arrested by Toronto police, Risler is alleged to have declared: "I made up my mind never to let a dry agent search my home."

Risler was brought to the county jail here, where he is held without bail on a charge of murder.

McCoy, accompanied by two assistants, entered the Risler home with a search warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Rutledge, out of whose court he was working. Having completed a search of the cellar, he was confronted by Risler, who had just returned home from work.

Risler is alleged to have fired one shot, which entered McCoy's left breast. McCoy was dead when taken to a hospital. His companions are said to have retired when Risler drew his revolver.

Risler offered no resistance when Toronto police arrived to arrest him. The authorities declare he admitted firing in defense of his home, which he considered violated.

Operating out of probate courts in this county for the last five years, McCoy was shot five times in raids and from ambush, and twice was stabbed by liquor law violators. In addition his home had been blown up three times, but on each occasion his family escaped.

Justice Rutledge claims that after the shooting a deputy marshal found a pint of whisky, a pint of wine and several bottles of beer in the Risler home.

WIFE WHIPPER IS RE-ARRESTED

London, O., April 28.—(UP.)—Harry Lowe, London farmer, accused of horsewhipping his wife, Margaret, was re-arrested here today pending outcome of his wife's condition.

Mrs. Lowe was reported in a dying condition in a Columbus hospital as a result of the alleged beating.

Lowe, who was arrested Monday and charged with assault, had been liberated under $500 bond. He was re-arrested on order of County Prosecutor H. H. Crabbe.

"If Mrs. Lowe dies, Lowe will be charged with first degree murder," Crabbe declared.

New Style Passports Are Vest-Pocket Sized

Washington.—The State department has decided to stop issuing the old style engraved passports and within the next month or so will publish a neatly printed substitute of vest pocket dimensions.

Underlying the change of style are two chief factors, safety and economy. Departmental officers expect the new form to give the government absolute protection from counterfeit products, a source of constant worry. Then, too, they say, the government will save much of the expense that went with the production of the engraved parchment, and by using less expensive paper.

Jessie's Joy Ride

Freddie and Jessie had been playing one of those old-fashioned games with forfeits, and the girl had been ordered to give the young man ten kisses.

"Let's see," said Jessie, pausing for breath, "that's seven, isn't it?"
"Only six," corrected Freddie.

"Seven, I think."

"No, six."

"Seven!"

"Six!"

"Look here," said the girl, wearily, "sooner than have any argument, we had better start all over again."

Commands High Prices for Artistic Candles

For the specialist it seems that candle making is by no means an unprofitable business in the United States today. In New York society many hostesses are willing to pay a good price for candles that lend an artistic effect to table decorations—rose-colored candles, for instance, to form part of a centerpiece with a box of roses. There is an Italian candlemaker, carrying on the craft of his forefathers in a studio on the upper East side, who so far individualizes his candles as to give them names. One called Eleanor Duse is decorated by hand with a delicate lily design and perfumed with the late actress' favorite orange blossom. At the time of the prince of Wales' last visit to made prince of Wales candles by the dozen. They were of "pale pink with the fragrance of an old English garden." Evidently this artist takes his profession very seriously. Once he had an order to make candles for a banquet to be given to a dancer. He watched her dance, so that he might catch her spirit in his dried design and then he scented the candles with her favorite perfume. The same man is sometimes called upon to make reproductions of candles centuries old for use in cinema films.—Manchester Guardian.

WAR TROPHY AND CHIMES DEDICATION

Crowd Attends Ceremonies
---Talks by Barton Walters
and M. C. Seyfert.

The dedication of the Foresman Memorial Chimes and the unveiling of the World war trophy Thursday evening at the court house, aroused a great deal of interest and an unusually large number of people filled the court room, where the ceremonies were held. Long before the appointed hour the place was filled to overflowing and the rotunda on the second floor was jammed with people eager to gain entrance, but were unable to do so.

S. T. Ruggles, one of the executors of the William Foresman estate, presided at the meeting and a beautiful souvenir program befitting the occasion was distributed to the audience.

Following the singing of "America" by Mrs. A. W. Holman, Miss Helen Marion, E. S. Roper and Fred Wittich an address was given by Barton Walters, one of the executors of the William Foresman estate.

He was followed by M. C. Seyfert Jr., who represented the military organizations taking part in the dedication of the chimes in memory of the fallen heroes of the World war and also in the unveiling of the World war trophy, the Minnieverfer mortar that stands on the east esplanade of the court house.

Following the singing of "Remember Now, Thy Creator," by the quartet, accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke at the piano. The chimes program was played by Andrew E. Meneely, of Watervliet, New York, the maker of the chimes. Taps was sounded on the chimes as a fitting finale of the evening's program.

Among the military organizations present were four of the remaining members of Groce Post, G. A. R., who were physically able to attend. When Mr. Seyfert began his address he asked the audience to stand up and salute the timeworn veterans of the Civil war, and they were given a rousing salute. Proudly did Commander Hudson of the post hold the post flag, Old Glory, aloft. This flag was presented to the post when it was organized in 1881, and was carried at the dedication of the soldiers' monument in Forest cemetery. At that time soldiers from all wars from 1812 up to that date participated. Samuel Lutz, the centenarian, who participated in the war of 1812, was present. The veterans present Thursday evening were Commander W. H. Hudson; Captain O. H. Spencer; George W. Trimmer and Charles W. Myers. The other members of the post who were unable to attend on account of their physical condition are James Graham, Fred Margraff, Lewis Thomas, James Morris and George Moore. The last named is paralyzed and is battling against odds for his life at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. G. Spangle, on West High street.

Only nine members of the post are living of the original 300, which formed the organization back in 1881.

Mr. Walters said that twelve years ago William Foresman, the donor of the chimes, thought of presenting them to this city in honor of this county's fallen heroes of all wars. He was then in correspondence with manufacturers and it was his aim to purchase and install them while living, but this pleasure was denied him.

Mr. Seyfert gave a description of the American flag and touched on the contrast of peace and war times, and paid a very pretty and deserving compliment to the boys of former and recent wars, who took up arms for their country. Do we owe them anything? Remember these boys who lie sleeping over yonder, who made the supreme sacrifice, and those who returned. This country can never repay the debt we owe them, their service was an everlasting debt that will not be liquidated in your time or mine.

The minieverfer mortar gun that was unveiled was used in the German army to throw missiles of death into the ranks of their enemies.
